The generative AI image I used came from the good ol' reliable ChatGPT. I chose it because the AI has done me good so far and I know what to expect using the GPT image generator. I've seen many images generated through AI (especially of people) and I knew that the image wouldn't look 100% how I would probably image it, but overall I think the picture looks pretty good. I asked ChatGPT to generate an image of a "prestigious man looking very hungry to eat something." I wanted a sophisticated audience to be eating my well-crafted grilled fish. The image ChatGPT generated was surprisingly close to what I had in mind. The man looks quite fancy and has his fork and knife in a "ready to eat" position, just like I hoped the AI would generate. The only thing I would have changed was the guy looking down at the fish rather than looking up at the corner, but I liked this image and wasn't confident that the AI could generate a better one. Overall, I think ChatGPT did a very good job generating the image I was thinking in my head and very happy with the overall ChatGPT experience.
